

Tuesday September 7, 2021

One picture shows sticks which were chewed by beavers and drifted up to shore where I gathered them for future use in my artwork. I have included a picture of an artwork that includes beaver-chewed sticks. I like the smooth surface and the teeth marks on the pointed ends. I think that the beaver lodge is a functional sculpture. Unfortunately, the beaver lodge on the shore of Windfall Lake was blown up by dynamite and the beavers no longer visit our shore. I miss seeing them swim along our shore.

- Norman Barney

